PROFESSOR JOHANNES ZACHHUBER

Head of Faculty, Theology and Religion, Oxford University

Professor Johannes Zachhuber is an historical and systematic theologian specialising in the Eastern Patristic tradition of theology, and modern theology from the Reformation to the present. His recent published works include comprehensive treatments of 19th Century German thought in relation to theology, philosophy, and individuality. He supervises a wide range of graduate research projects at Oxford University where he is a Fellow and Tutor in Theology at Trinity College.

PROFESSOR KEITH WARD

Emeritus Regius Professor of Divinity, Oxford University

A Former President of the World Congress of Faiths and member of The Board of Social Responsibility for the Church of England; Professor Ward has also written a 5 volume work on 'Comparative Theology', which is about inter-faith relations. Professor Ward has recorded programmes for Al Jazeera TV and recently for the Egyptian Arabic TV channel. He is a former Chair of the Governors of the Oxford Centre for Hindu Studies and on the Academic Committee of the Islamic Centre at Oxford.

DR ANDREW PINSENT

Research Director, Ian Ramsey Centre for Science & Religion,
Oxford University

Dr Pinent is a former particle physicist at CERN being a named author on thirty one papers of the DELPHI experiment. He is a member of the UK institute of physics. Dr Pinent has a second doctorate in philosophy and is currently the research director of the Ian Ramsey Centre for Science and religion, a research fellow of Harris-Manchester College and a member of the faculty of theology and religion at Oxford university.

PROFESSOR DAPHNE HAMPSON

Associate, Theology and Religion, Oxford University

Daphne Hampson is Professor Emerita of Divinity at the University of St Andrew's, an Associate of the Department of Theology and Religion at Oxford University, and a Life Member at Clare College, Cambridge. She has published widely on Post-Christian thought with an emphasis on feminist criticism, combining her commitment to theological realism with an ethical critique of Christian mythology. Her latest work focuses on the role of religion in contemporary Western society, the underrepresented field of Lutheran thought, and an introductory exposition on the work of Kierkegaard.
